Conference News and Information

2015 EURA Conference in Sibiu: Transforming Cities, transformative cities

As 2014 winds down, the conference organizers are speeding up their preparations for the 2015 EURA conference. Next year's conference Transforming cities, transformative cities will be held in Sibiu, Romania from September 17th to 20th. Tracks are still being finalised, and confirmations from keynote speakers (including Iwona Sagan from Gdansk and Enzo Mingione from Milan) are rolling in.

In the meantime, the organizers request suggestions for an experienced scholar to be involved in the young scholars' workshop. For more details and information, feel free to visit the event site above or email organizers here.

Call for paper submissions are open until January 31, 2015. For details click here.

EURA Research and Conference Improvement Survey

As a part of the follow up to the 2014 EURA conference, a survey was sent out to attendees to help improve and contribute to future events. We would like to thank all those who talked to us during the 2014 conference in Paris, and those who responded to the survey. Your general feedback and specific comments regarding future conference tracks have been noted.

Call for EURA 2016-2017 Conference Hosts

The European Urban Research Association is looking for two hosts for the upcoming EURA conferences 2016 and 2017!

The annual EURA conference should have an overall topic of the conference which is broad enough to be attractive for EURA members with different background and interests. Within such a broad overall topic there is room for an array of more specialised parallel tracks and workshops. EURA conferences are truly interdisciplinary events and accommodate scholars from urban economics, political sciences, urban sociology, sustainability studies, geography, urban design and planning.

EURA conferences attract between 250 - 400 participants. Prior conferences have been held in Paris (2014), Enschede (2013), Copenhagen (2012), Vienna (2011) and Darmstadt (2010). Conference topics included: City Futures, Learning Cities, The Vital City, Cities as seedbeds for innovation, and Cities in City Regions.

Standard tracks that need to be at any EURA conference are in rough terms:

- Sustainable/resilient cities;
- Knowledge and economic development;
- Urban sociology;
- Policy studies/governance; and
- Spatial planning/architecture.

As an expression of interest please send us a title, description of the topic, possible tracks, venue, an institutional profile (one page) and former experience with conference management.

The conference has to consider the three goals of EURA. EURA is a network of urban scholars facilitating cross-disciplinary research and stimulating academic debate about urban issues in Europe. Aims and objectives of EURA as written in the charter are:

1. To encourage international exchange and co-operation in relation to urban research
2. To stimulate and encourage interdisciplinary and cross-border urban research
3. To contribute to urban policy debates.

EURA conferences are usually hosted by an institutional member of EURA.
For any queries please contact any EURA board member or the secretariat, or visit the EURA site.

Deadline 31.01.2015
EURA Developments

Growing Membership & UAA

In addition to feedback from the 2014 Conference, EURA also gained over 40 new members this year. Not only has the membership grown as a result of the registration conditions, but discussions initiated at the conference have also resulted in an agreement for registration fee reciprocity for EURA members at Urban Affairs Association (UAA) sponsored events. This offer, for instance, will be valid for the next UAA conference in Miami. Interested EURA members should send a request for the Special Registration Link to this email address.

Deadline for early registration is January 12, 2015.

General registration information and an online link to the payment system is available here.

EURA is delighted and appreciates these cooperative efforts. May this lead to many more fruitful exchanges and exciting dialogues!

EUROLOC/EURA & Cost Summer School

From September 29 to October 02, the COST Action [Local Public Sector Reforms (LocRef)] organized together with EUROLOC/EURA and the University of Siena a joint PhD-Training School in Siena, Italy. Local organizers were Prof. Riccardo Mussari (University of Siena), Prof. Angelika Vetter (University of Stuttgart) and Prof. Henk Van der Kolk (University of Twente) from EURA/EUROLOC and Prof. Sabine Kuhlmann and Christian Schwab (both University of Potsdam) from the COST Action LocRef.

The topic of the Training School was “Re-building Trust in Local Governments: Re-thinking Politics, Management and Governance in the Post-NPM Era.” Out of over 60 applications, 25 PhD students from 13 European countries were given a chance to participate and received a COST grant. Together with 10 international renowned scholars, the students presented and discussed their PhD projects and listened to the several lectures with topics like “Administrative Reforms and Local Governance in EU Countries”, “Local Government Management in the Post NPM Era: From Past to Future and Back” or “How local can governance be?” The second of the four days have been totally devoted to methods training and the discussion of methodological aspects.

COST and EURA/EUROLOC decided to continue this successful collaboration in the upcoming year. The next joint PhD-Training School will take place in Spetses, Greece (14.09-18.09.2015). EURA/EUROLOC co-conveners will be Prof. Krystof Steyvers and Prof. Henk van der Kolk. The call for applications/papers will be published soon.
